U. S. ARMY COMMAND AND GENERAL STAFF COLLEGE

FORT LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS

23 September 1959

Mr. Allen Dulles, Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Dulles:

As you know, the United States Army Command and General Staff College is the senior tactical school in the Army's educational system and the only one that teaches the tactical and logistical doctrine of the combined arms and services. Included in the curriculum is a Guest Speaker Program specifically designed to broaden the cultural background of the students, to develop their educational and ethical values and standards, and to present viewpoints which challenge and stimulate the thinking of the students.

As part of this program we have scheduled a presentation on the operations of the Central Intelligence Agency. Accordingly, I wish to extend an invitation to you to send one or more representatives of your agency to give this presentation to the students of the Regular Course and to the members of our Staff and Faculty.

We are making available two hours, from 0830 to 1020, on 15 February 1960 for this presentation. If this date is not suitable, please let me know at your early convenience as we can reschedule the presentation on a mutually acceptable date. It is suggested that the prepared presentation utilize 50-70 minutes of the period followed, after a 20 minute break, by a question and answer period. However, please feel free to design the presentation in accordance with your own judgment.

Prior to the time of the presentation the students will have received instruction pertinent to this subject as follows:

A short orientation on the place of the Central Intelligence Agency in our National Government and in the intelligence family,

A three-hour presentation concerned with the fundamentals of unconventional warfare, and

Various problems throughout the academic year requiring consideration of the importance of proper intelligence at national, Department of the Army, theater, and field army levels.

The scope of this presentation might well include the planning for, and conduct of, the Central Intelligence Agency in time of war and the coordination with the military in overseas areas. This presentation may be classified as high as TOP SECRET if you so desire.

An information booklet is inclosed to provide you with detailed information concerning the composition of the student body, facilities available here, and other administrative details.

We would be honored by your acceptance of this invitation to give us the benefit of the knowledge and experience found within your agency. I am certain that this presentation would make a real contribution to the professional knowledge of both our students and faculty.

Sincerely,

1 Incl
